

A recent Harvard Business School survey found that 3 out of 4 (73%) employees reported having some type of current caregiving responsibility.

Caregiver Assurance promises to make your employee's caregiving journey easier — and less stressful — allowing them to remain at work and be productive and engaged.

Caregiver Assurance™

There for your employees, so they can be there for your customers.

WHAT A PRIVILEGE IT IS TO CARE FOR A LOVED ONE

Taking care of a loved one who is ill, disabled or aging can be difficult and stressful, especially in light of life's other demands – career, relationships, and family. Employees with family caregiving responsibilities may be more distracted at work, be less productive and have higher absenteeism.

At M Health Fairview we have a special appreciation for family care partners, especially those who have work responsibilities. We understand that providing care to a loved one can be challenging, but with the right support and guidance can be rewarding.

That's why we created Caregiver Assurance—an ongoing telephonic support service designed to take care of your employees' wellbeing and support their caregiving needs as they take care of their loved ones.

DESIGNED TO REDUCE EMPLOYEE STRESS AND MAKE THEIR CAREGIVING DUTIES MORE MANAGEABLE

Our program provides employees with expert guidance from a counselor experienced in supporting caregiver needs. Their Caregiver Advisor will be dedicated to them so that they better understand the employee's unique situation and can plan for the future.

Caregiver Advisors are trained in aging services and caregiver support. They'll help your employees cope with all types of challenges—emotional, financial, legal or physical. Whether they're experiencing a lack of sleep, family stress, healthcare questions, or financial or work challenges, their advisor is there to support them.
